Fulton's own Marshall Alexander Post No. 72 of the American Legion has received national recognition in this month's issue of the American Legion magazine.

It seems that our recent story about Chaplain Robert J. Lamb and his cheer-up and get-well visits to local hospital patients was sent in to the magazine and they promptly pointed out the splendid project of the Fulton Post to the rest of their ten million readers around the country. We again add our congratulations to the Legionnaires and their splendid Chaplain for their good work and for its national recognition.

If Army Day is filling your News columns these days, it's exactly what is intended. Another feature of this early Spring celebration is the announcement made today that Zeke Martin, that impressario of song performing on Station WENK has been engaged to do a broadcast from Fulton on April 6 from 11:30 pm to 12:30 pm. At 10:00 o'clock a.m. on the same day he will perform on the bandstand on Lake Street and well in advance of the actual day he will "plug" the Army Day celebration. That's publicity in its best form and our hats are off to the VFW boys for doing a well-organized job.

Interested conservationists are again reminded of the meeting at the Woman's Club on Monday featuring the celebrated Ethel Larsen, who will give an enthusiastic talk on conservation at the club at 7:45 p.m. A special invitation is issued to county groups to attend the meeting.

Girl Scouts will help their brother scouts in staging the gigantic Scout Circus planned for June. At a meeting of the girl scout mothers Louis Weak and Elbert Johns presented the plan and was accepted by the leaders.

When this paper reaches the Norman Terrys they will have about 72 hours before their anxious moments will be over, for at that time the Gerrishes with their interesting children will arrive in New Orleans after spending two and one-half years in Japan. Mrs. Gerrish is the former Charlotte Terry and while Norman says that he is mightily anxious to see them it is Mrs. Terry who is counting every second until that time.

Welcome home Charlotte, Richard, and Susan, Dexter and Terry.

The members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church here have received word from the pastor, Elder Loyd C. Strickland who is in Nashville attending the Ministerial Convention for Kentucky and Tennessee, that he has received his new RCA "400" sound projector, and that he has secured the film "The Birth of a New World." This picture is in color and is a sound film.

You have a cordial invitation to see this film at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, 111 Jefferson street, Fulton, Saturday evening, March 5 at 7:30.

With the Fulton Rotary Club celebrating its silver anniversary next week, perhaps you have wondered how the organization ever happened to select its name "Rotary."

It seems that the first Rotary Club in the world was organized in Chicago by a young lawyer named Paul Harris, who gathered together in a spirit of friendship a group of men, each of whom was engaged in a different form of service to the public. At first the members of the new club did not meet at lunch, but met in rotation at the various places of business of the members, hence the name, "Rotary."

The Club's basic ideal was "service" . . . thoughtfulness, and helpfulness to others, and this thought still is its guiding motive.

Holland Issues Policy Statement On Fulton High School; Student Problems Given First Priority

In an important statement of policy regarding the local school system, Supt. W. L. Holland today released a report setting forth the philosophy of education as it pertains to the Fulton High School. "Equipping the individual to become a successfully adjusted personality in a highly organized and competitive world," is the basic principle of the Fulton Schools, Mr. Holland said, and added "the pupil must be stimulated to seek that which is for his own good."

Setting forth 12 specific objectives of the high school, the report listed physical well-being, mental growth, desire for learning, spiritual growth, good moral environment, proper course of study, proper recreational facilities, development of special aptitudes, family and community responsibilities, character development, good public relations, and the perpetuation of democratic principles as fundamental requirements for a well balanced school program.

The report in part follows: Equipping the individual to become a successfully adjusted personality in a highly organized and competitive world is the function of any high school. To be successfully adjusted the individual must not lose sight of the fact that he grows physically, mentally, morally and spiritually and that in the development of these attributes he must have learned to accept and reject right and wrong principles of thought and action. The pupil must be stimulated to seek that which is for his own good and which will further his interests.

The means by which a student may strive to reach a desirable goal is the curriculum of the school which he attends and it must be both extensive and adaptable to his needs. It should not only enrich him with the achievements of the past, but should assure him into the possibilities of the future.

The methods employed by the teachers of this curriculum should be whatever is necessary to fire the student with enthusiasm and with a chance to show progress in development. The teacher should vary the methods for particular needs, remembering that the students are, while grouped together, highly individualized because of hereditary, environmental and previous training factors.

That in the hands of the teachers of today's youth lies a serious charge is everywhere evident. Crises in the bid of democracy for survival present themselves almost daily. It is the work of the school to further the development of good and intelligent citizens. The pupil must be proud of his national heritage, but able to approach present day problems with a recognition of their international interdependence. He must make use of his education in solving his economic and social problems in a practical way.

In the effort to bring these statements to an acceptable realization Fulton High School sets forth its basal philosophy the statement of Joseph Reemer, J.B. Edmondson and Francis L. Bacon in The Administration of the Secondary School: "The duty of the secondary school is to provide experiences and sources of information that will lead to the fullest development of students as individuals both in their adolescent years and in adult life."

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY

I wish to make my announcement for re-election for the Office of County Judge of Fulton County, Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary on August 6th, 1949.

In making this announcement I want you to know that it has been a pleasure to serve you as your County Judge and I thank you one and all for your co-operation and support as otherwise nothing could be accomplished. The Fiscal Court, of which I am the Presiding Judge, has tried to take care of the tax money and spend it in the best way to serve the people and do the most good. During my time as County Judge, the indebtedness of Fulton County has been reduced around One hundred and seventy thousand dollars, ($170,000.00) in bonds and outstanding indebtedness and also the rate of interest for the future has been reduced to a very low figure.

I have made several trips to our State Capitol in behalf of our people and read improvements. I feel certain we will get results from State road contracts this year and I shall continue to push for improvements.

The Fiscal Court has a very good road program for this year and will do everything in its power to get as much done as can be done this year, and keeping in mind always the urgent need of better roads. We have tried to keep taxes as low as possible for the taxpayer realizing that he is burdened with a higher cost of living. Our county road work now costs at least double what it did a few years ago with higher labor costs and higher materials and yet we have accomplished much. During the last three years the County has purchased and paid cash for a Lorain Shovel, a size 6 Caterpillar Dozer and a dump truck and these cost the sum of Twenty three thousand dollars ($23,000.00). This new equipment should be of help in providing better county roads and lowering our costs.

I hope that I will be able to see each voter before the Primary election, but the Office of County Judge keeps me busy and I feel that I must take care of it first, and if I do not get to see you then I wish to make this as a personal appeal for your support and vote.

I feel that with the experience I have had in the Office of County Judge that I can accomplish much more in the next four years and if I am honored by your support and am re-elected, I promise to give the Office of County Judge my whole hearted attention and dispatch the duties of the Office to the best of my ability.

Respectfully submitted,
HOMER ROBERTS

BROCKMAN NAMED RICEVILLE OFFICER

E. E. Brockman, well-known police officer and resident of Riceville has been appointed constable in that area, Judge Homer J. Roberts announced early this week. Mr. Brockman made application to the fiscal court officer last week and was sworn in as soon as his bond was approved by a local bonding company.

Appointment of Mr. Brockman to the Riceville post is good news to the residents of that area who appealed to the editors of this paper to seek appointment of such an officer for police protection.

Mr. Brockman was formerly connected with the Fulton police force and has been a resident of Riceville for several years.

The News compliments Mr. Brockman on his new appointment and feels some little satisfaction in arranging for his new post.

MARY ALICE COLEMAN RESIGNS OFFICE IN IC SERVICE CLUB; ISSUES THANKS TODAY

Mrs. Mary Alice Clark Coleman, in a letter to the News today tendered her resignation as secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Central Service Club. Mrs. Coleman's work in the organization has been a monument to its success and it is with regret that "circumstances over which she had no control" made the action necessary.

Her letter follows:

Dear Friends: It is with a feeling of deep regret that I tender my resignation as secretary and treasurer of the Illinois Central Service Club. Circumstances over which I have no control make this move necessary, but it is not without a feeling of sadness that I relinquish the duties which have given me utmost pleasure in performing for the benefit and enjoyment of my fellow workers here at the Roundhouse.

Nearly two years ago, when a group of my associates in the great Illinois Central family discussed the need for a central group in which the mutual interests of railroaders could be integrated, I did what little I could to bring about what is now the IC Service Club. To watch it grow from a tiny organization to the influential group it now is, has given me an untold amount of personal satisfaction. The club has gone far beyond the expectations of any of us in promoting goodwill and excellent public relations for the railroad that we serve. While the results in actual benefits to the company are intangible, they have been nonetheless material. That was our goal . . . and that goal we have reached and even stepped beyond.

May I take this opportunity to thank, from the bottom of my heart, the civic organizations, the merchants, the members and the Fulton County News for the tremendous help you have been to us in promoting the interests of our beloved company. While my actual efforts are suspended my heart will always be actively working for the Illinois Central Service Club and all that it stands for.

Sincerely,
Mary Alice Clark Coleman

National figures in cancer research will also attend the meeting. They are: Horace Ritchie, Atlanta, Ga., regional commander; Mrs. T. C. Carroll, Louisville, state commander, and Charles Tucker, of the state organization.

April has been set aside as National Cancer Month. Mrs. Boyd will announce her committee workers at a later date.

Special events to be included in the VFW's Army Day parade are stacking up every day with the latest attraction being that the Junior Woman's Club will sponsor a beauty revue at the end of the month to select a young lady from this county to reign over the festivities for the day long celebration. At a meeting of the Woman's Club on Tuesday the club enthusiastically and unanimously voted to undertake the beauty show to assist the members of the Glendale White Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in their attempts to make the event on April 6 one of the brightest activities of the entire year. Miss Virginia Howard, president of group of prominent young ladies, appointed Mrs. Edward Benedict as general chairman of the event.

Invitations will be issued to young ladies in the entire county to participate in the revue which will carry the coveted

NEW LO-OP BOARD ATTENDS MEETING

Local persons invited to the session include: Charles E. Wright, Homer B. Weather-spoon and P. F. King, Fulton, Roy D. Taylor and C. H. Binford, Crutchefield, Charles E. Adams and Lucian Isabell, Hickman. Bennie D. Clark, manager of the local cooperative, also will attend. Invitations also have been sent to the wives of the above named persons.

Highlight of the meeting will be a mid-year report on Southern States' operations and financial standing.

Principal speaker will be Howard G. Crist, Jr., Director, Southern States Feed Distribution. Presiding will be a member of Southern States Cooperative's Board of Directors, A. H. Calvert of Mays Lick, Ky.

A beauty revue for Fulton will round out the many promotions planned for this year. Such an event has not been staged here in several years, although local groups are constantly being called upon to enter young ladies as beauty contestants in many of the festivals staged in this area.

Appearing at the meeting on Tuesday was Bob McKnight of the VFW who formally requested the Junior Woman's Club to stage the event, and Mrs. Paul Westpheling, who outlined the procedures for selecting a queen.

The winning beauty will ride in a handsomely decorated float and will wear a crown of jewels befitting her royal position.

Out of town judges will be invited to select the queen. Music, special events and other phases of the beauty show will be announced at a later date.

MRS. PAUL BOYD TO HEAD CANCER DRIVE

Mrs. Paul Boyd, prominent club leader, has been appointed city chairman to spearhead the greatest offensive ever mounted against cancer, Mrs. W. L. Durbin, county chairman of the American Cancer Society's 1949 fund-raising drive announced today. In announcing the appointment Mrs. Durbin said that Mrs. Boyd is an ideal choice to lead the city-wide drive.

Mrs. Boyd has been active in other fund-raising drives here and her appointment as city chairman is good assurance that the quota will be reached. She succeeds Mrs. J. L. Jones, Jr., who has rendered invaluable service to the Cancer Society.

Fulton county workers have been invited to attend a district meeting to be held in Benton today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Looney attended Campus Lights in Murray Friday night.

History Repeats Itself in 25 Years of Rotary

On next Tuesday, March 8, members and guests of the Fulton Rotary Club will gather at the Strata Club to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of one of Fulton's oldest and most active civic clubs.

Two rather unusual events will mark the occasion for local Rotarians: the first, that the chairman for the evening's activities (who is still an active member) is Joe Davis, the Club's first president in 1924; the second, that the principal speaker of the evening will be Will R. Manier, prominent Nashville lawyer, past president of Rotary International, and back in 1924, Rotary district governor who came to Fulton and presented Mr. Davis and his associates with the original charter.

The program for next Tuesday's event will begin with an anniversary dinner at 7:00 p.m. followed by a musical program featuring students from Murray State college, and then an address by Manier.

The Fulton Rotary Club was organized February 7, 1924 by Schultz Riggs of Paducah, with Clyde Williams as temporary chairman. Formal presentation of the charter, as Club No. 1655 (there are now over 6500) was made by Manier the following month.

Joe Davis was elected first president, and the board of directors included, besides Davis, Prince Ford, Joe Scruggs and Alf Hornbeak. An examination of the old, yellowed records of 25 years ago reveals that one member, elected to the first board, was disqualified and dropped from membership when he refused to pay the initiation fee.

February 1924 attendance records indicate that the original 23 members included Charlie Holloway, Joe Browder, Prince Ford, Joe Davis, Ernest Fall, Joe Scruggs, Tom Franklin, Arch Huddleston, Clyde Williams, Pointer DeMyer, Charlie Karmire, Bob Wade, Hoyt Moore, Robert Redfearn, Seldon Cohn, Paul Etheridge, Henry T. Alexander, Aubrey Nugent, John Culver, Alf Hornbeak, Ira Little, Leslie Weeks and Cy Young.

Of these 23, seven are still actively associated with the present club. They are Browder, Davis, Fall, Franklin, Williams, Little and Weeks.

An interesting account of the Board of Directors' meeting on March 14, 1924 reveals that "The directors met in regular session at the Usona Hotel, Ira Little was elected to fill a vacant seat, and also appointed Sergeant-at-Arms, the following program chairmen were appointed for the first year: Programme: Aubrey Nugent; Fellowship: Ernest Fall; Public Affairs, Joe Browder; Education, Tom Franklin; Boy's work: Joe Scruggs; Classification: Prince Ford, Business methods: Arch Huddleston and Correspondent: Hoyt Moore." The minutes were signed by Alf Hornbeak, secretary.

Club presidents through the first ten years were, beginning in 1924, were: Joe Davis, Joe Scruggs, Theodore Kramer, Tom Franklin, Clyde Williams, Joe Browder, W. R. Butt, Leslie Weeks, Gus Bard, Ernest Fall and John Earle.

Through the years the Fulton Club has had its ups and downs, and today looks back with the satisfaction of a job well done; its aims and objects carried out; its organization, providing a bond of strength between its members and a forum of real understanding, teamwork and advancement for its community.

The Club now numbers 32 members. New members added since the first of the year include Hubert Jacob, principal of Fulton high school; James, F. Gibson, life insurance representative, and Hugh Fly, cafe opera-

Dear Old Alphabetical Washington

Recently we wrote an editorial wherein we took to task Editor Fred Sullens, editor of the Jackson (Miss.) Daily News for using uncouth expletives in speaking of the President of the United States. We thought it most unbecoming to tell the head of this government to go to hell. Sullens was annoyed (understatement) at the President's stand on equal civil rights for all citizens and as a result directed the President to take a sojourn in the flaming regions of the damned.

Now comes Harry Truman with an off-the-cuff remark that makes Sullens' statement look like kid's stuff. Harry Truman was no less annoyed (super understatement) because Drew Pearson, a vituperative word-slinger in his own right, suggested that the President discharge his military aide because the aide had accepted a decoration from Peron's Argentina government. No doubt you have read of the President's remark in the metropolitan newspapers and the current magazines.

The situation is hitting a new low when statesmen and editors have to resort to the vernacular of the gutters to bring home a point. Sullens and Truman could have been just as forceful in their statements with a little less colorful language and a little more respect for the things that matter.

Poor ole Harry. He's been hanging around Washington so long with its WPB, SSB, ECA, OWI, OPA, OES, etc. that now he's added another . . . . . SOB.

For Enjoyment of Individuals!

This is a time for dynamics—for warm, generous rapport among friends, for enjoyment of individuals by individuals. With the world seemingly threatened by an eternal coldness, human beings need the warmth of human companionship, rather than the poor and tepid comfort of tolerance.

Every man under God deserves the right to be judged as an individual—rather than as a Catholic, a Jew, a Methodist, or an Episcopalian. Every man is honest or dishonest, charming or annoying, wise or stupid, because he is himself—not because he is a member of a particular group.

It is his inalienable right—a right far greater and more universal than any given in the Constitution—to be an individual, to be accepted or rejected as an individual.

His faith is a part of him—he is not a mere characterless unit in the overall group.

In brotherhood week, which was last week, Americans everywhere need an upsurge of genuine brotherhood, of intelligent, warm friendship for their brothers. Brotherhood week should be commemorated every week.

In friendship, in brotherhood, simple courtesy is the straight path toward decent human relations.

—OVETA CULP HOBBY

Red Cross Month

Since March is Red Cross Month and since the local finance Drive starts here on March 17, the News is privileged to print the statements of great Americans regarding the American Red Cross.

Statement by General George C. Marshall

Every American has an opportunity to play a personal part in supporting the vital services of our Red Cross. We need no reminder of its continuing worth-while achievements, particularly in behalf of the victims of disaster the National Blood Program, and its program of assistance to civilians and the Armed Forces.

This 1949 Red Cross fund campaign allows us to exercise once again one of our most important privileges as an American: sharing in the work of our Red Cross. I hope that all Americans will earnestly support the Red Cross campaign.

Statement by General Dwight D. Eisenhower
President of Columbia University

Organizations and institutions—educational, social, humanitarian—supported financially by voluntary individual contributions are characteristic of our way of life . . . evidence of our people's readiness to help each other. In their forefront is the American Red Cross.

Once a year the Red Cross calls upon us to help carry on its work.

Each of us has his own personal reasons for answering this call. These are mine!

To men in the Armed Forces, the Red Cross is a prompt, efficient friend in personal emergencies.

To war veterans—particularly those confined to beds and wheelchairs in Veterans' Hospitals—the Red Cross remains a constant friend and counselor.

And to all of us, the Red Cross is the recognized civilian disaster relief agency. It has the know-how to meet human needs growing out of a large-scale national emergency.

For all these needs and for the other services it performs, the Red Cross deserves our continuing support.

Statement by Bernard M. Baruch

The Red Cross holds a unique place not alone in America but in the whole world.

The mere mention of its name tends to rouse in all of us our finer sensibilities and best thoughts toward our fellowmen, because it spreads its mantle of helpfulness and comfort over the whole world, irrespective of race, color or creed.

It should receive the support of men, women and children for it protects them all.

Because of America's position, in the Red Cross, I hope it will be able to give as great a message to the world as it ever did, in showing its willingness to help in ways that no other organization does or can.

by ALICE AND ME

Our readers probably know by now that Alice and I live in a world of perceptions and sensations all our own.

Something we like: The philosophy of fighting for what you believe in.

Had you ever thought that very few birds sing while on the ground. Virtually all birds sing while on the wing or while perched on a more or less elevated object.

If this is one of your "old" feeling days, here is a fact that might cheer you up and make you realize that we're never too old to accomplish things if we keep that "do or die" determination: Henri Matisse, one of our great modern artists (who laughs and says, "I am only eighty") is designing a chapel for Dominican nuns. He not only designed the windows and murals, but he conceived the whole structure. This is the first time that one of the important living painters has ventured into the architectural field.

Several years ago Dr. Walter Kemper of Duke University originated a treatment of a rice diet for people with high blood pressure and heart disease. This treatment created much interest in the medical world and at a recent meeting of the New York Heart Association he brought his findings up to date.

It has been said that: Hats are a sure give away to the state of mind of the wearer. A small, chipper hat and she just can't be deadly serious.

An almost unknown congressman arrived at a Democratic convention when he was thirty six years old. Two days later he was front page news with the swiftest rise to leadership in the history of U.S. politics. During the campaign he spent only $36 of his money. A clergyman infuriated at the liquid magic of his oratory said: "His patriotism is all in his jawbone." (William Jennings Bryan).

From the Fulton Advertiser November 25, 1924: "The First Baptist Church has under construction a new building which will, when completed, be a credit to any town."

The Lord gave you life, health, strength and happiness. An hour at church on Sunday is little enough for you to give in return.

Something we miss around Fulton: The brisk walk and cheerful smile of "Little Joe" Davis who recently got "returns" from this kind of friendliness by being elected president of the Freshman class of Washington University in St. Louis. This is by no means a small honor for a little southern boy in a big, "Yankee" town. Alice and I are looking forward to the day when he hangs up his shingle and we can call to say, "Dr. Joe, we

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:
Reference your letter of 11 February 1949, and your inclosed editorial concerning myself. To say the least, I was extremely elated with your splendid editorial and only wish that I were worthy of the praise you have heaped upon me in this writing.

I hope you will forgive my delay in answering your letter, since my reasons for so doing seemed adequate at the time.

Upon receipt of your letter, I immediately wrote Col. O. P. Newman, Commanding Officer at Camp Campbell, recommending troop and equipment participation in your Army Day parade if at all feasible, and provided sufficient 11th Airborne personnel were on hand at the time. It was my original intention to await a reply from Colonel Newman so that I might be able to give you some definite information in reply to your letter. Since writing Colonel Newman, I am informed that a change of command has taken place in Camp Campbell, and I am assuming that my correspondence will be re-channelled to a different person for consideration and reply. I must advise you, however, that the policy of the Department of the Army in regard to this year's observance of Army Day is that Regular Army troops will not be utilized for parades except in some rare instances, and then only on Saturday, April 9. The National Guard Bureau has offered to actively sponsor this year's Army Day observance and is to place at the disposal of various communities the existing National Guard troops for participation. In this connection, I have written Brig. Gen. Roscoe L. Murray, State Adjutant General, setting forth the request from Fulton, and am awaiting word from him as to the allocation of troops for Army Day. As soon as I have heard from General Murray, I will notify you whether or not National Guard troops will be allocated to Fulton for the parade.

Please rest assured I am doing everything within my jurisdiction to favorably comply with the requests from Fulton, which obviously spring from an enthusiasm and fervor in support of the National Security Program that is unparalleled elsewhere in Kentucky.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 6, 1949.

The Golden Text is: "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God." (1 John 3:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" (Ps. 8: 3,4).

Repentance is sorrow converted into action; into a movement toward a new and better life.—M. R. Vincent.

Fescue and Ladino Mixture Profitable in Hickman County

Ode Mullins of Hickman county figures he made $40 an acre on 30 acres of Ky. 31 fescue and ladino clover pasture. Warren Thompson, county agent reports the story.

Mr. Mullins seeded his 30-acre field in the fall of 1945. In September, 1948, he turned 57 head of cattle in the field, leaving them there until Dec. 10. During that time, they had no other feed.

Mullins estimated the cattle put on a little more than 100 pounds per head, or a total of about 6,000 pounds, worth about 20 cents a pound. "Where else could a farmer make as much on a small investment and no work?" asked Mr. Mullins.

Is it their last roll call?

Roll the drums. Read out their names in honor.

This may be the last time.

An idea that only government is good gains strength. It calls such people stupid, selfish, wrong, not to be trusted.

Read out their names.

The settlers (remember Standish, Bradford, Boone, Clark?) who founded a nation in a wilderness. The stubborn believers, the misfits of Europe, all the minorities persecuted by powerful governments.

The civilian soldiers of America's wars, miserable but courageous, frightened but determined, who fought to prove that power couldn't rule them.

The statesmen (Lincoln was one) who led their nation through trials to greatness, yet humbly kept their powers servant to the people.

The men and women of business who dreamed, invented, risked — to build an industrial nation with the highest standard of living in the world.

The generations of people who created, tried and kept alive the idea that men are greater than nations, who learned that freedom must be defended from government power.

Step by step, the things they lived for go. As another "control" or two appears. As another hard-won freedom is bargained away for an elusive "security."

Today, it's a project to put the federal government directly into business—by building a giant fuel-burning electric power plant at New Johnsonville, Tennessee.

It is more than one power plant that Congress must consider. It's the precedent that can allow government to take over all the electric light and power businesses—and then whatever other businesses State Socialists calls for next.

*****

This advertisement is published by Kentucky Utilities Company one of America's tax-paying, business-managed electric light and power companies, partly because the New Johnsonville project threatens our business... and partly because it threatens other things closer to you—your business, your job, your future.

Many Guests Enjoy Reception Last Night Of Fiftieth Anniversary Of Magazine Club

With a background of yellow blossoms and a warm fire that burned in the hearth the members of the Magazine Club formally celebrated their 50th anniversary last night when more than 150 friends called during the evening. The living rooms of the home were decorated with jonquils and fern and in the dining room the guests were treated to a story-book sight with the mantle of the fireplace beautifully enhanced with pear blossoms, so very early for this Spring. Above the mantle hung the portrait of Abigail Christy a Scottish ancestor who looked with favor on the scene.

In the tall windows burned yellow tapers in branch candelabra with pear blossoms and jonquils a base of golden hues. The table in the dining-room was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, dotted here and there with jonquils. At one end of the table where the punch bowl rested, trailing bits of maiden-hair fern were entwined around the base. Two stands of candelabra with four holders completed the picture.

Throughout the house golden flowers filled the rooms. In the living room was a lovely bouquet of Joanna Hill roses sent to the Magazine Club by the Mesdames Weaks in memory of their mother.

Presiding at the guest register was Mrs. Mozelle Crafton, daughter of the late Mrs. W. F. Boyd. Assisting in serving were the Mesdames Leslie Weaks, Parks Weaks, Gene Poe, Miss Grace Hill and Mrs. Gilson Latta children of members of the club. Delicious refreshments were served.

The first book printed on the North American continent was a hymnal, produced on a printing press brought across the Atlantic by the Puritans. The book was entitled "Bay Song Book."

KENTUCKY SPENT 16 MILLIONS FOR ROADS LAST YEAR

The Kentucky Department of Highways contracted for 1,313 miles of road construction, surfacing and resurfacing during 1948 at a cost of more than $16,400,000, according to an announcement released by the department.

Former Highway Commissioner Withers said, "Contracts totaling $16,467,000 were let for 1,177 miles of surfacing and resurfacing and 137 miles of new construction."

"Since none of the new two-cent income from the state gasoline tax was available for construction, emphasis this year has been placed on federal aid primary and secondary roads. This program, linked with the necessary reconstruction caused by the severe winter, brought the contract figure past the $16,000,000 mark," he said.

Major construction projects started during the year included grade, drain and traffic bound surfacing of eight miles of US 27 south of Lexington, relocation of five miles of US 62, the Kuttawa-Gilbertsville road, and a Licking River bridge and straightening of US 27 at Cynthiana.

Write Patricia Latane to Solve Your Problems

Dear Pat:

I would like for you to answer some of my questions. I have been going with this boy for a long time. Does he love me, if so will we ever marry, when? Will we ever have any children and how many. If we get married will we live happy?

Dear S. E.

Yes, he loves you but it will be quite some time before you marry. Yes, you will have children. I think there will be 4. Yes, you will be happy but you will have to do just what he says and jump when he wants you to.

Dear Pat:

I would like for you to give me some advice as I need it. I love the boy I am going with very much and he feels the same way about me as he has told me several times. He has been married and has a little girl but has a divorce now. We have been going together ever since a few weeks after the divorce (last July). Will we ever marry? He wants me to now, should I? (I want to). Will we have any children? What will happen to his child? Will we get her or will his wife get to keep her? If we get married when will it be? Will we be happy?

R.D.

Dear R. D.

Yes, marry this boy, you are in love with him and he with you. You will be happy, you will get the child and you will have two children of your own.

Dear Patricia:

I've been reading your columns and now want to ask you some questions. Please help me. Is my husband's health very bad? Will I continue to make my home here? Will I have success in my business or will we move from this location some time soon? O.C.

PS—Will I get financial help soon?

Dear O. C.

No, your husband's health isn't bad. You will continue to live here and will be very successful in business but it will take time. You will be down hearted several times before your success, but you will make the grade if you will stay in there and try. Yes, you will get financial help.

Dear Miss Latane:

I am a girl of 15. When will I marry? Will I ever have any children? Does my beau care anything about me? MVW

Dear M. V. W.

I guess your beau thinks as much of you as any little boy would but you nor he neither know what love is. The thing for you to do is think of your books and of getting an education. There is plenty of time for love affairs after you get an education, that my dear young lady, is the most important step in your life right now. Set down and think if you were married to him and something were to happen to him or you were to separate, and you had a couple children how you would support the children and yourself? You have no high school education, and you almost have to have a high school education to wash dishes, so my advise to you, as well as any other child your age is go to the show or church with these little boys but keep love out of your head and education in your head until you finish your schooling then think of love and marriage but first qualify yourself.

Dear Patricia:

I read your column in the paper and like it very much. I would like to ask you a few questions. Will I have to wear glasses all my life? Do I have any boy friends that I don't know about? Will I get to go to High School? Will I get to date when I am 16 years old? AW

Dear A. W.

No, you will not have to wear glasses all your life. Yes, there are two or three little boys that claim you for their girl. Yes, you will go to high school and don't let nothing stop you. Yes, you will get to date when you are 16

Dear Patricia:

I am a girl 17 years old. I have been going with a boy 24 years old. He is in Detroit now. I have not heard from him in about two weeks. Why doesn't he write to me? Will we ever marry? If I don't marry him will I ever marry anyone else? L.N.D.

Dear L.N.D.

No, you will not marry this boy and the reason you haven't from him is that he is going with a girl there. Yes, you will marry but not for several years yet.

Dear Patricia:

This is my first time to write to you. I have been reading through your columns where you help lots of people so I am asking you to help me. Here is why I am writing you. I have a grand son, he is 13 years old now but when his father and mother separated he was only 7 years old. He was brought and given to me to keep until things got better so I kept this child till August 1, 1948. His daddy and mother have both married again and his daddy lives in a far town about 800 miles from here. Last August his daddy and wife came down to visit me so my little grandson wanted to go back with his daddy to stay a week or so I let him go. We have had this child almost all his life and I feel like he is one of my own and kept him all the time since he was 7 years old up till last August. I want to know what you think is the trouble, he don't write. Will he ever come back and live with us? DLP

Dear D.L.P.

I feel sorry for you after keeping this child all these years. He will come back to you but it will be some time before he does as his father and step-mother are doing every thing in their power to keep him with them. They want to turn him against coming back if possible. He is getting to be a big boy now and can work and help them, but he will come back to you later, but it will be some time yet. He and his step-mother will have trouble and when they do he will come back to you. Don't worry too much as he is alright and is going to school.

R. E. A. Phone, Housing Setup Pushed

AGENCY'S PATTERN SOUGHT TO BUILD MORE HOMES

Proposals to extend farm-telephone service with aid of the Rural Electrification Administration—and for housing on the R.E.A. pattern—are beginning to get some solid support in the House.

The R.E.A. is a New Deal agency that has helped farmers get lights, electric milking machines, refrigerators, washing machines, and the like.

There is more and more talk of expanding it, or borrowing the pattern it uses, for other fields.

Already moving along in the House is a bill to hook up to REA for building rural-telephone service.

Housing Agency Considered
A new plan has come along to set up a housing agency that would not be a part of the R.E.A. but would operate like it.

Before the R.E.A. was established in 1935, something like a fifth of the nation's farms had electricity. Now about four fifths have it.

Under the R.E.A. program, a group of farmers can get together and form a co-operative. The R.E.A. lends it money to build a power system to serve the members. The co-op can get the money for 2 percent interest and arrange to repay it within 35 years. R.E.A. also loans the co-op money, which it can re-lend to individuals to wire homes and buy some kinds of appliances.

Representative Poage (D., Tex.) figured the same sort of agreement could be worked out to take more telephones to rural areas.

He is chairman of a House agriculture subcommittee that has held extensive hearings on the measure. Farm organizations and individual farmers have hailed it. The R.E.A. and the Agriculture Department have put their backing behind it.

Spokesmen for telephone companies—the Bell System and hundreds of small independents—have opposed it. They say they can do the job of providing more rural-telephone service and actually have made a big start since the end of the war.

They say the Poage bill threatens to duplicate existing lines with Government-financed lines and that eventually the independent companies would be forced to the wall.

Another Texas Democrat, Representative Patman, is pushing a bill to adapt the R.E.A. pattern to housing.

He would set up a co-operative housing administration and provide for loans to co-ops to build houses for people like farm laborers, tenants, and veterans, and to encourage home ownership in cities.

His bill hasn't moved into the hearing stage yet.

LOUIS BROMFIELD SAYS MACHINES COST LIVES

Louis Bromfield, author and farmer, believes the pressure on our lives, created by machines, helps cause the early end of many leading businessmen.

"The average man thinks this is the most civilized country in the world because it has the most radios, refrigerators, bathtubs, and so forth," Bromfield said. "That is not so. A hermit in a cave can be more civilized than a millionaire with four cars."

The farmer, the author told a Kenyon College assembly, is the best example of the civilized utilization of machinery in the world today. He said the farmer unlike many other Americans, uses the machine intelligently, to get his work done quickly and efficiently.
